Mode of competition:

The European Sock Cup will be an individual competition; males and females will not be judged separately in routine 1 and 2, but will be in routine 3. The participants of each routine compete against each other, i.e. there will be four people coming first, second, and third.

The preliminary round consists of the compulsory routine and the first voluntary routine. Maximum difficulty for people choosing routine 1 is 1.2, for those competing in routine 2 2.4, and for routine 3 there is no maximum.

There will be 6 or 10 people (depending on the turnout number) in the finals. The points of the preliminary round will be part of the final score.

And here are the special features of this unique competition:

In addition to the “normal” points there will also be a “sock bonus” as well as a “country rating”.

“Sock bonus”: As we trampolinists from Karlsruhe are traditionally known for bouncing with yellow socks, we would like to ask you to not wear the usually required white socks but socks of funny color and/or shape. We hope you will come up with something unique! The creativity of your socks will be rewarded with a bonus of up to 0.3 points. This decision will be made by a specially trained “sock judge”.

“Country rating”: The country rating (“country” = state, e.g. Germany, Switzerland, ...) will consist of one half each of the average of the score (preliminary round) of the respective country and the overall performance in the compulsory routine. “Performance” consists of: clothing/costume, make-up, hairdo, and general appearance. The points will be given by a specially trained “performance judge” and an assistant.

The nationality of the competitor is the criteria for determining which country the competitor belongs to, not the country where the competitors university is located.

Alumni:

Please register directly with the Trampoline group of the Universitaet Karlsruhe ( for addresses see below). Alumni will compete in the normal competition.

Attire:

Competitors must, apart from the criteria mentioned above, wear dress that allows a fair and correct judgement to be given.

Venue:

Gym I, Karlsruhe University (building No 40.40)

You can find the driving directions below.

We will spend the nights in gym No II (Building No 30.80); you can arrive there Friday beginning at 10pm. Don't forget your sleeping bags, air mattresses, silverware, and dishes!
